CONTINUOUS
REINVENTION

RfQ strives to serve its customers as a trusted and capable partner of medical technology.

By creating solutions together with our clients, we can draw on our experience and deliver on our 3 pillars to ensure success.

Co-creating Solutions

The medical sector is wide and complex

RfQ understands that our clients are continually challenged as the medical sector becomes more complex.

We like to think we are not limited by just selling off the shelf products. So we encourage our customers to consult and share their sophisticated needs as the market changes.

This way we can offer a portfolio that offers everything from standard products to the bespoke.

We are not only a supplier,
we are your partner and service provider.

Experience Driven

Experience cannot be taught

Our own story is one of 70 years experience.

The medical market has changed immeasurably since our first steps in 1949. RFQ's success has been changing in pace with the industry. Today, tomorrow and in the future there will be more surgical challenges than ever, but we are well equipped and experienced enough to adapt and succeed.

Our work is driven by experience. Ours and yours.

Continuous Reinvention

Everything changes

Everything does change. And our product portfolio has come a long way in 70 years. But some things do remain the same- what has remained constant is our commitment to work to the highest standards for our clients and provide products of highest quality, incorporating the latest proven technology.

So in a changing world, you can be assured our commitment to you remains steadfast.

Renz for Quality

Renz for Quality - or RfQ is not just our name, it is our pledge of our high standard for the medical market.

We are ISO certified, quality-controlled manufacturer of medical equipment and surgical supplies. This fulfils not only our own high standards, but the expectations of our domestic and international partners.

RfQ – Nothing less than quality !

Structure follows strategy

"Our entire organization is designed to deliver individual, cost-cutting and state of the art solutions. - Challenge us."
